Area of Dominion Parks Reduced By Government

Cut Down Area of Original Reserves by About One-Third Provincial Government May Prohibit Game Shoot- ing in Area Taken from Reserve

From an area of 5,500 square miles to 1,250 square miles, Jasper Park in the Rocky Mountains west of Edmontion has been reduced by the order in council passed some weeks ago by the Dominion government, which brought immediate protest from fish and game protective associations in the south of the province because it reduced also the area of Rocky Mountain Park, leaving outside the park territory the breeding grounds for mountain sheep and other game. Not only has the area of Jasper Park and Rocky Mountain park been reduced but slices have been taken from three other Dominion parks

These are Yoho park, which has been reduced about one half, Glacier park, from which about 36 square miles have been taken and the Waterlon Lakes park, which has been reduced from 56 square miles to less

Financial Burdens Have Retarded The Growing Prosperity of the Big Australian Commonwealth

Labor-Socialist Government Has added $180,000,000 to the Estimates for Current Year—Taxation Has Increased from $13 to $22.50 Per Head in Ten Years

Melbourne, Australia, Aug. 9.—Everyone admits that Australia has in recent years fared remarkably well. When seasons are good, as they have been in six years out of the past eight, and sheep and cattle feed themselves and multiply, when crops are abundant and prices high, the results are remunerative in a remarkable degree. That is Australia's position today. The effect can be seen in the government railways, which in the year 1899-1900 earned gross $50,000,000, and last year, in spite of many concessions, earned $80,000,000, an increase of 60 per cent. on the ten years. The population in those ten years increased 13 per cent. The expansion has been similar in wealth, production, and incomes—they have all increased far faster than the people, and there is abundance of well-paid—other countries would say splendidly paid—employment, and the difficulty is to secure either men or women for the work there is available.

But there are drawbacks—there always are—and in Australia they are increasing ominously. The total taxation of the six states in 1899-1900 reached $50,000,000, or $13 per head. In 1909-10 it reached $75,000,000 or $17 per head, in spite of other sources of revenue which developed abundantly. Thus, there has been an increase of 50 per cent. in the taxation of the people, and that is a material set off. The people are well able to pay the $17 per head, and it may be argued that it has been their prosperity which has increased their payments into the seven treasuries. But that would not be wholly true, for the country has now before it a growth of taxation which bids fair to dwarf the past ten years into comparative insignificance. Take the estimates for the current financial year. According to Premier Fisher's forecast of September last, the taxation by the federal government was to be $60,000,000, and that was placed altogether too low as the actual yield will be $70,000,000 or more. Add to this the $20,000,000 which is being collected by the states, and the taxation of Australia will amount to $90,000,000 on a population of 3,482,000, or to over $26 per head. An increase of $15,000,000 in the course of a single year is startling, and has been due to definitely increased taxation, not only by the federal government, but by three of the states.

Next year there are good reasons for expecting a taxation exceeding $100,000,000, or of say, $22.50 a head, and there will be no country in the world sustaining so heavy a burden. Ten years ago Australia was really lightly taxed, though the yield was small because the people were in a position to pay. But ever Australians, prosperous as they now are, cannot do so sustaining additional burdens after this fashion, and when bad times recur there bids fair to be trouble. It may be said: "What right is there to expect $100,000,000 of taxation next year and more afterwards?"

The labor party captured both the commonwealth houses of parliament last year, and were the victors in the New South Wales state elections. They were already in power in South Australia, and are to be reckoned with in all the states. The first effect of the labor-socialists' entry into office in the commonwealth has been an addition of $180,000,000 to the estimates of expenditure in the current year, which is covered by the new land tax (to fall only on large land-owners and absentees) and by depriving the states of $140,000,000 of their annual subsidy. Hence, if there were nothing beyond, the states are forced to raise the additional $140,000,000 of which the commonwealth has deprived them. But it is abundantly clear that the labor parties in the states are not standing idle. In South Australia much taxation has been imposed according to the latest ideas, and though the party is too new in office in New South Wales to have formulated their plans, it is quite understood that they mean spending money freely. Free universities, free harbor ferries, grants here, there and everywhere are all for the public and there are claimants in abundance.

A sample let us look to the prospects of the commonwealth government, which is to start at $95,000,000 and rise to $25,000,000 a year (well over $5 a head). We ought to do our best to defend the empire to which we belong. First, there is the naval programme. While defence was essential the Mother Country $8.50 a head and Australia only $1.25 or less, there was some reason for the admission that Australia was shirking her duty. But we are now in the thick of compulsory service on land, and a vast outlay on sea, to be increased by local shipbuilding, and our expenditures per head is at least that of the Mother Country. The situation is too violent, and we could have simply proved our loyalty at less cost. Had we increased our naval subsidy from $6,000,000 a year to $10,000,000 the burden would have been small by comparison. But the Australian fleet is to recreate Australian rates of pay and conform to other Australian ideas and the cost will be proportionate. Then there will be two transcontinental railways at a cost of $20,000,000 capital, which will mean $15,000,000 a year interest and probably the Port Harbourn line will never pay working costs. Also the Northern Territory has been taken over by the commonwealth on which there is now a deficit of over $700,000, and the expenditures there will probably be doubled. Then there is the concession of penny postage, which will absorb another $1,500,000, and the unification of the railway gauges—a needed, but costly, work. This next item is the federal capital, the cost of which could be defrayed out of land sales. But the labor-socialist creed for bids sales of land, and thence the treasury must find the money and reserve the unearned increment for posterity. A number of minor items might also be referred to, but this programme is already a long and costly one. The objects are good, if we had the money but we have not.

Important Announcement

We wish to announce to the Musical Public of Edmonton that we have opened a General Musical Supply Store at No. 442 Namayo avenue, and are prepared to furnish everything in the line of musical merchandise.

Whether you are in the market for a Grand Piano or a mouth-organ we can satisfy your needs and at prices beyond competition.

THE DOHERTY "LOUIS"

Our line of small goods is choice and we can promise you the very latest in sheet music. Buying as we do, from the manufacturers and publishers and for spot cash, we are in position to present at all times a fresh and up-to-date stock. We hope to merit your patronage and it is our aim and ambition to so serve you that you will remember us in your musical needs.

After an exhaustive research for the best Piano on the Canadian market, a piano strictly high grade in the truest meaning of the term and with tonal qualities beyond reproach we have at last decided on the Doherty as the one piano which fills the bill. Exquisitely designed, honestly built and beautifully finished, it produces a tonal quality, delightfully mellow and at the same time powerful and resonant. Knowing this as we do, we can truthfully say:

The Doherty is the Piano You are Looking for

A car of Doherty's has just reached Edmonton and they are now on exhibition in our store. Special opening prices and terms will be quoted now on our full line and we want to invite you cordially and sincerely to call on us and inspect these beautiful goods. A valuable Song Book, containing over 50 songs, words and music, will be presented free to each visitor during this sale.

IT GROWS HAIR

Here Are Facts We Want You to Know at Our Risk

Marvelous as it may seem, Ilexall "23" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a scald, skin appearance.

Ilexall "23" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, it delicately perfumed, and will not gum nor permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Ilexall "23" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove scalp, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Ilexall Store, A. Archibald.

A carpenter once hung a box outside his workshop with "for the blind" printed on it.

Several passers-by put money in it, and everything went smoothly until the expiration of three weeks, a lady contributor who was passing noticed that the box was no longer hanging out, and so she queried:

"Well, Mr. Carpenter, I see you have taken our box away."

"Yes," said Mr. Carpenter, "I am enough, thank you."

"But, my dear friend," asked the lady in surprise.

"Yes," said Mr. Carpenter, "how do you like it?" as he pulled down the new blind on the workshop window.

POLITICS IN MARYLAND

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 9.—Three weeks from today both the democrats and republicans of Maryland will hold their primaries for the nomination of candidates for governor and other state officers to be voted for at the fall election. With the near approach of the primaries the contests for places on the tickets have become a noticeable feature and from now on Maryland is likely to see one of the most spirited campaigns in some years.

The liveliest fight is that for the democratic nomination for governor. There are three aspirants for the place and they are putting up a veritable "bottle royal" for the honor. Governor Austin L. Crothers is a candidate for re-nomination. The other two who are ambitious to head the ticket are Blair Lee, a member of the state senate, and Arthur P. Gorman, also a state senator, and a son of the late United States Senator Gorman. The republican ticket probably will be headed by either State Chairman John B. Hanna or Internal Revenue Collector Philip Lee Goldsborough.

DEPORTATION MAY BE AUSTRIAN'S FATE

IS NOW IN JAIL AT FORT ON STABLING CHARGE—IMMIGRATION OFFICER INVESTIGATING

With a view of investigating the case of an Austrian named Zohier, who is being held at Fort Saskatchewan for deportation on a charge of aggravated assault, J. J. Mohr, of the immigration department at Edmonton went to Fort Saskatchewan this morning.

Zohier, who has been in Canada for a short time only, was arrested in February and held in custody for having attacked a fellow workman with a knife. He was given his preliminary hearing and recommended for deportation back to Austria. A difficulty stood in the way, however. The Austrian refused to furnish any particulars as to the date of his arrival in the country, the port of entry or the railway on which he travelled to Western Canada. As these details are necessary in making out deportation papers the authorities were staid in their attempt to place the country of an apparently bad character.

But Zohier was not allowed to go free. He was told that he would be kept at the Fort until he decided to furnish the information required to deport him. He continued to hold out until yesterday when he sent for the official interpreter at the Edmonton immigration hall and promised to answer all questions regarding himself. Zohier's wife is now living at Daysland.

STRATHCONA LOCALS

Alb. F. Pollard and Mr. J. Pollard were called to the coast yesterday morning by the sudden death of a brother who has resided in Vancouver. Mr. T. Walsh returned to town by yesterday's morning train from a brief pleasure trip to Banff. Amongst the Strathcona representatives at the famous watering place are Messrs. G. Wilson, Jas. Hain and T. Tipton. With the foundation stone all in place for the new post office the construction is now beginning to move along more rapidly on the building and the erection of some of the steel pillars lends a more imposing appearance this week to the structure.

An interval of peace has invaded the police circles again for the last few days and with the exception of an occasional case of just plain drunk the court has opened the month with easy stages.

Hereafter the city council will present an improved and better kept appearance if the plans of the council are carried out in full. At a recent meeting the committee decided to place the caretaker, E. Schlander, on a salary for the purpose of having him give constant attention to the general up-keep of the grounds.

THREATENS ACTION AGAINST THE CITY

John Bible Will Take Legal Proceedings Against City to Secure Sewer and Water

After vainly trying to get sewer and water accommodations at his residence for some months, and after being told by the commissioners that the cost of giving him the service would not at this time be justified from the revenue that would be derived therefrom, John Bible has backed up and taken a new tack. He has threatened to take legal proceedings that unless steps were instituted by the city to provide Mr. Bible with sewer and water by Wednesday, that an action of mandamus would be instituted against the city. And the letter furthermore hinted at a damage suit for damages alleged to have been sustained by virtue of drainage water in the Bible cellar and other inconveniences.

DIARY OF THE MASTER OF AN EDUCATED MAN

Insane Murderer's Journal Reveals Desperate Struggle of Man of High Intellectual Qualities to Master Mental Affliction

London, Aug. 10.—An educated man's diary of growing madness, and struggling against the impulse to kill or commit suicide, was read at the daily when the mystery of the cyclist highwayman was solved.

It will be recalled that Sam Spiliter, a motorcycleist, riding toward Barret late one night, was overtaken by a man on a bicycle, with whom he conversed, and who suddenly shot at him several times, shouting, "Your money or your life!"

The assailant, George Douglas, 24 years old, was brought to trial Saturday, when Dr. Dyer, of trixion prison, who described the case as unique, read passages from the life story, written by himself.

Dr. Dyer presumed that the man was an illegitimate child, inheriting high intellectual faculties. He had no doubt that he was of unusual mind. The diary, divided into periods of years, ran as follows:

"17 to 19—Began to develop aversion to society and tendency to withdraw into shell; pass through short unhealthy period of most perfect religious devotion, take special treatment for stammering, resulting in temporary cure; return to stammer; consequent sense of something ominous quickens my longing for isolation, and I take situation (as postman) in tiny remote village.

He Becomes Depressed
"19 to 22—Become depressed as stammer gets worse; continue to live in village as much as a stranger as I entered, nervousness becomes constant; meditate constantly on the faculty of life; live now absolutely alone.

"22 to 23—The suspicion begins to grow that my stammer is not the only of all my trouble, but is merely the manifestation of some deeper malady; placed myself in the hands of a specialist for treatment by Prof. Brown's system of psycho-analysis, and return apparently cured; horrified to detect after few months of first normal existence I ever enjoyed—namely, my immunity from mental ailments, etc.—signs of return of my affliction.

"Discovery of certain things brings home the realization that I am close 'introspectionist,' and forthwith begin to practice it consciously with intensity never known. To master my enemies I had to compel myself through agonizing mental exercises, the least dream of all of which was daily an hour of two's intensest auto-suggestion. So excruciating became the nervous tension which in the presence of other people that I was now driven to carry my revolver with me.

Fear He Would Slay
"It was necessary for me in the conflict of personality absolutely to dominate myself. That was the only test of whether I was succeeding in killing my phobic enemies in the internal struggle. And I knew, or instinctively felt that if I stayed in the presence of anyone, the conflict, at first subconscious, would inevitably end in his killing me or my killing him.

"During these terrible months I spent hours daily in the innermost self-discipline and self-suggestion, lying for hours in the privacy of my bedroom, in semi-frenzy, with every faculty suspended, save my thoughts, which would still seem to agonize. The very issues of my innermost being seemed to be laid so open and exposed that I actually experienced physical pain from sounds—as a football."

To the prisoner's counsel Dr. Dyer said: "It is possible for a man to be hypersensitive because of a mental infirmity, and that it is growing on him, and to struggle against it. It is pitiable the details the prisoner has been given—the impulses which have been welling up in his life during the last eight months, and the terrible struggle he has had to keep it down."

The jury returned a verdict of guilty, but insane, and the prisoner was ordered to be detained during his master's pleasure.

History of the Spalding Show

Flower Show Represents Remarkable Development of London Industry

(Globe Cable Service)
London, Aug. 10.—The interesting history of the Spalding flower trade, which represents a remarkable development of local industry in Lincolnshire, is told in the "Flowers Magazine." This business originated about thirty years ago in the case planting of a large garden, a flower show being bought in Spalding market by an old inhabitant who, appreciating the graceful charm of the growing flower, continued to cultivate it, and eventually produced a sufficient quantity of bloom to form a small local trade.

Some years elapsed before the commercial possibilities of the blooms began to be realized, but gradually the culture extended until old customers sent for sale to other markets produced such good results that the marketable value of the blooms had increased. Nearly 1,000 tons are now every year forwarded by rail, the output having increased to 200 acres of land are under cultivation for the purpose, and from twenty-five to thirty different nurseries are engaged in the work of production.

In the early part of the season the flowers are raised in glass houses 100 feet or more in length. Picking begins in June, and the flowers are packed in boxes of thirty-six dozen bunches. They are despatched nightly in quantities up to thirty tons, to all the important markets—London, Manchester, Liverpool, Leeds, Bradford, Nottingham, Birmingham, among the number—and always find a ready sale early the next morning. The whole of the traffic is conveyed by passenger train, and one of the main factors in the marvellous growth of the business is the low rate charged, at owners' risk, for carriage, the figure being so small as to represent the minimum of profit over the cost of working. London is, of course, the chief market, 2,500 boxes being despatched to Covent Garden daily in the season. There is also, among the industrial populations of England and Scotland, a great demand for the flowers.

The present congress promises to be produced by the criticism of some of those who have been active workers for the cause, but who are said to be dissatisfied with the way the movement has been directed by the older leaders. Some of the delegates do not hesitate to declare that unless radical changes are made the whole movement is likely to prove nothing more than a dream, as its opponents have always predicted.

ZIONISTS OF THE WORLD CONVENTION

(Union Press Service)
Basle, Switzerland, Aug. 8.—The World's Convention of Zionists is to begin its sessions here tomorrow. About 400 delegates have arrived and several hundred more are expected. Both the United States and Canada will be well represented.

This is the fourteenth annual congress to be held by the International Federation of Zionists. The gatherings have always attracted leading men of the Hebrew faith, and its somewhat sentimental and romantic propaganda—the restoration of Jerusalem to the sons of Abraham—but really, at its heart, a stern business and philanthropic proposition, has created world-wide speculation as to the ultimate fate of the scheme.

Opposed by Jewish Clergy
"Zionism," as the movement is called by which, its promoters declare, the Jewish problem is to be solved—that is, the future of the oppressed Jews of Russia and elsewhere is to be provided for—has met with opposition from prominent men of the Jewish clergy and laity.

The present congress promises to be produced by the criticism of some of those who have been active workers for the cause, but who are said to be dissatisfied with the way the movement has been directed by the older leaders. Some of the delegates do not hesitate to declare that unless radical changes are made the whole movement is likely to prove nothing more than a dream, as its opponents have always predicted.

It is pointed out by those who believe that a thorough reorganization is needed, that although the Zionists through their international and national organizations have been laboring assiduously for many years to revitalize the Hebrews again into a nation, and there have been numerous successes to this end, until now nothing really definite has been accomplished.

Leaders Confident of Success
On the other hand, the leaders who have directed the affairs of the organization since the death of Theodor Herzl, the founder of the movement, declare that much has been accomplished within the past few years and they hint that, in view of the reports to be made to the present congress, the dissatisfied element will rally to the standard, creating a solidarity so powerful in numbers and wealth that success will be assured.

GOLFER GREATEST LIAR IN THE WORLD

Montreal, Aug. 10.—A unique controversy is raging here as the result of the attempt of local investigators to classify outdoor summer sports in the order of prevarication which each includes, to the end that growing children may be protected from those calculated to ruin a reputation for veracity. Unfortunately the investigators have been made to wince as to which sports or pastime causes the most lies and hence the controversy. The opinion is unanimous that tennis comes first.

Next in order, the investigators have created shooting for moral plane, followed by golf and walking, of which it is obvious that more over an attractive field for the man with the elastic imagination. From this point on, however, the investigators have stirred up trouble, since they said the list with golf, swimming and fishing. As a result snipers and anglers are up in arms and hold in their assertion that the golf liar is not only the greatest in the world, but the most stupid, even excelling the automobile liar, who boasts of what his car can do and how many miles he can run on a gallon of gasoline. It does not seem probable that the discussion will be easily decided even if the mayor does appoint a committee to investigate the matter for the benefit of the public playgrounds. But the majority of the investigators agree that if the love of truth is to be cultivated in the growing child his sports should be limited to tennis, canoeing and shooting.

Deputy Mayor pointed this portrait of me. It looks quite like an old master, doesn't it? Quite like an old man, you mean. Yes, it's a good likeness."

JUDICIAL SALE OF FARM LANDS, BEING THE NORTH EAST QUARTER SECTION 25, TOWNSHIP 65, RANGE 26, WEST OF THE FOURTH MERIDIAN

Pursuant to judgment and final order for sale there will be offered for sale by Mr. Robert Smith, Auctioneer, 23 McLaughlin Avenue, Edmonton, on Saturday the 26th day of August, 1911, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the above-mentioned wild lands. The land is situated about five miles from McLaughlin where there is a railway station and 2 1/2 miles from the village of St. Mary, where there is a post office and school. The surface is almost all level, with a gentle slope to the east and there is some small timber and poplar brush scattered here and there, estimated in the whole at about four acres. The land is a rich black loam with clay sub-soil.

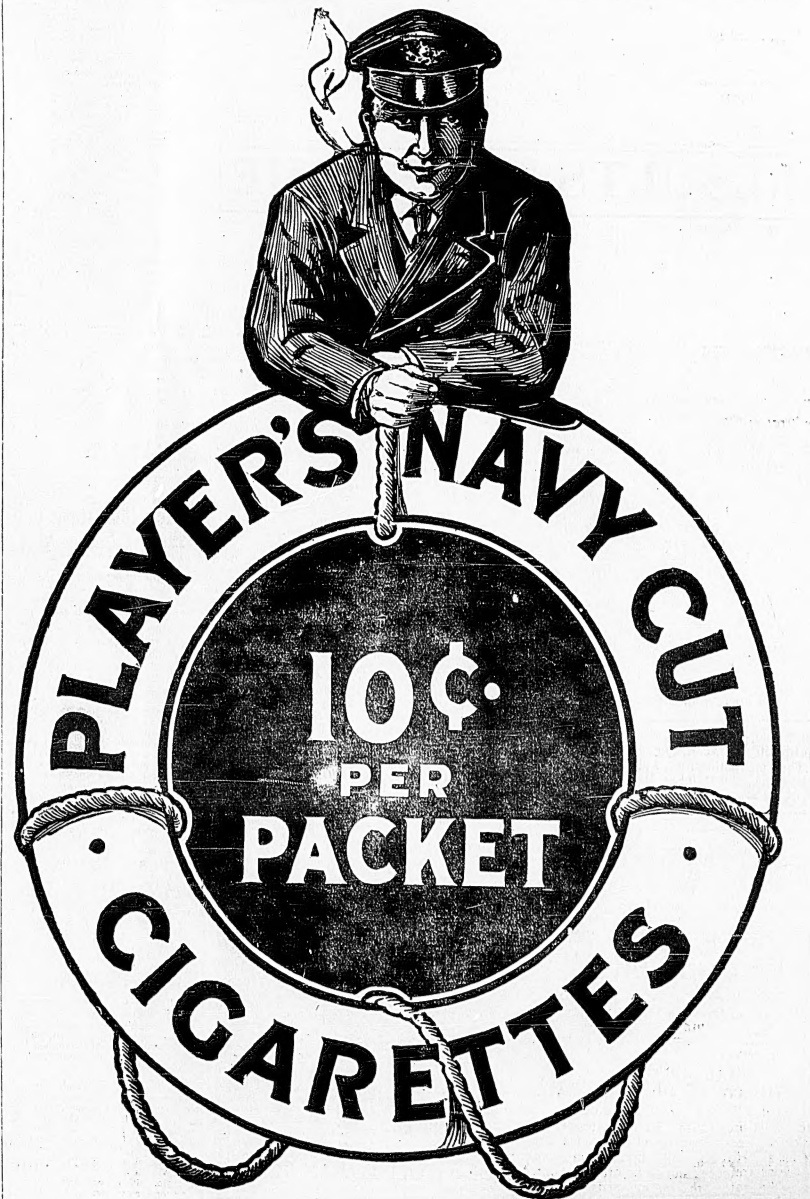

The sale is subject to a reserve bid which has been fixed by a judge.

The purchaser is at the time of sale to pay down a deposit of ten per cent of the full purchase price and the balance is to be paid as follows:

A sum sufficient to make the unpaid purchase money to be paid into court within 60 days without interest, balance may be paid into court within 60 days without interest or may be secured by a mortgage on the property in favor of the Vendor payable in two years with interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum, payable half yearly.

In other respects the terms and conditions of sale will be the standing conditions of the Supreme Court of Alberta.

For further particulars apply to Messrs. Emery, Newell, Ford, Bolton and Mount, Auctioneers, Edmonton, and Mr. Robert Smith, the Auctioneer as above.

Will New Fight Law Mean Return of Old Days When Ring Battles Meant Fortunes

New York Proved a Veritable Gold Mine for Fighters and Promoters During the Palm Days of the Old Horton Pugilistic Law

New York, Aug. 8.—During the old Horton law days in New York six big fights netted a total of $264,749 in gate receipts. Jeffries and Sharkey alone drew $66,300 at Coney Island, and when Fitz knocked out the sailor at the same place there was a $25,000 crowd on hand. Little Terry McGovern cut his share of $25,100 when he beat George Dixon for the title at the Broadway A. C. and Jim Corbett and Kid McGoat fought before a $63,340 attendance.

Will those poor days return now that the game has been legalized by the Franchise bill? Old-timers say no, giving as a reason that in the first place we haven't the fighters these days and in the second place the limit of ten rounds spoils the attractiveness of any fight.

It is true that most important battles are decided in less than ten rounds, still where there is no limit, or say one of twenty-five or forty rounds, there is an attractiveness that can't be claimed for the ten-round limit.

The boxing enthusiast of today insists that ten is plenty when it is the best that can be had and points to the money spent here to see bouts in Philadelphia, where the limit is six rounds.

However, old-timers will have their say.

CHEMICAL FOGS MAKE WAR FUTILE

PLAN MAY OUTSTRIP HAGUE TRIBUNAL IN BRINGING ABOUT UNIVERSAL PEACE.

Montreal, Aug. 10.—That mechanical and chemical produced fogs, to be turned loose at will, may become a more important factor than the Hague Peace Tribunal in the elimination of war, is the most significant feature of the offer of a local inventor to sell to the government a secret process by which it is claimed fogs can be produced whenever and wherever wanted. It originated along agricultural lines, as the result of an effort to protect growing crops from the sun during dry periods, and to supply them with moisture.

It developed, however, that while the fogs might be used to blot out the sunlight, the moisture which they contained would be of little or no value as a substitute for rain. It was then that the value in case of war of fogs which could be produced at will became apparent. The squadron of an enemy, once enveloped by one of these artificial fogs would be practically helpless and at the mercy of the torpedo boats, while even on land a foot-bound army would be greatly hampered.

While the process by which fogs are produced has not been proven on a large scale, the possibilities are apparent, and it may be that the idea at first considered as a purely defensive measure may yet result in making both land and naval battles impossible.

ESQUIMAUX AGAIN WIN FROM ANGELS

IN PITCHERS BATTLE, EDMONTON WINS FROM BRANDON BY 1-0—BEST GAME OF SEASON

In a pitchers' battle, possessing few sensational features, and of special note in the batting line, the Eskimos won the second game in the series with Brandon last evening by a score of 1 to 0. The winning run was scored in the second inning, Sorocinski hit and slid, aided by an infield hit by Holmes bringing in the tally. Bender was caught at the plate at the close of this inning, after Mills had rolled the ball to first.

Ford fanned eight and gained an out from the fans when he struck out Reese, Mauns and Redlick in professional form in the sixth. Eskimos fanned three and held the Eskimos down until the eighth. Bender hit a two bouncer in the seventh, but his successor failed to bring him in. The rubber game was called at the end of the first half of the ninth.

Takes the Form Of Warwick Vase

(Globe Cable Service)
London, Aug. 9.—Fifty years ago Henry furnished the funds in 1839, which has ever since remained the "blue ribbon" of amateur rowing, was given the form of the celebrated Warwick vase. It is supported by a shaft or stem, covered with bulrushes, and a figure of Father Thames, with his arms and cornucopia, reclines on the neck of the cup. The handles are also formed of bulrushes and spruce from the forests of Henley Bridge. After the death of the Prince Consort, Sir Robert Hawkins, the sanitary expert, was sent to inspect the castle. He reported that, within the reign of Queen Victoria, "cesspools full of putrid refuse and drains of the worst description" existed beneath the basements. Twenty of these cesspools were removed from the upper ward, and 28 from the middle and lower wards. Means of ventilation by wind-lifts in Windsor Castle were very defective. Even in the royal apartments the upper portions of the windows were fluted. Lower cesspools alone could be emptied, so that by far the largest amount of air-spaces in the rooms contained vitiated air, comparatively stagnant.

Windsor Castle Was Death Trap

J. A. Mackenzie's Trotting Marvel, Pensia Maid, Had A Most Wonderful Career

(By Palmer L. Clark.)

Pensia Maid is dead and great is the loss. Delicately and daintily fashioned, a superb trotter and the season's aspirant for two-minute honors, the little mare succumbed last week to a wholly unexpected attack and the end of her trotting career world mourns the loss of its uncrowned queen. There is a bit of coincidence in the demise of Pensia Maid and in the death of Hambruge Belle 2:01 1-4, for which D. H. Hays, of Cleveland, O., paid $40,000 two years ago, only to lose her that winter just as the daughter of Asworth was being hailed as the coming trotting queen. Now it is Pensia Maid which the grain reaper has garnered and the mare progressed nicely, and though the loss, measured by dollars and cents, is but a passing item to J. A. Mackenzie, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, the disappointment is indeed keen; not only to himself, to the trotting horse world in general, but to a little woman in Faraway Southsea to whom Pensia Maid was a bride present. Mrs. Mackenzie purchased the mare less than a month ago for the princely sum of $25,000 and presenting her to Mrs. Mackenzie and it is with this lady those who love the trotting horse. Nor will the Mackenzie victory in the classic Chamber of Commerce with Vernon McKimney the past week assuage the bereavement. A sportsman every inch of him is the Canadian horseman, and he, like all the rest of the world, knows that there was but one Pensia Maid—the little mare of romance.

Old-Fashioned Blood
One of those adages, which commend the most powerful stables of the Grand Circuit crowd. Suffice to say, Pensia Maid was and became herself one of the world's greatest trotters. At Detroit and Cleveland the little mare met defeat on account of an indisposition which had attacked her, but, by the time Buffalo was reached, she was herself again, and from that time on she was unbeatable. She won $10,000 stakes at Syracuse and at Columbus; and, at the latter track she annexed a second victory.

At Lexington she won three, her greatest race being her impressive Trans-Canada victory, which she trotted her first heat in 2:04 1-4 and repeated a few days later by winning the much-coveted Walnut Hall Cup. Shut was not a professional reclaimer nor did he ever lose a race. His business at Lexington was that of buying and selling draft horses; yet his interest in the trotter was always keen, but it was the blood of race horses, not that of the blood of the turf, that was in him and Pensia Maid went to the races. Nevertheless he handled the little mare masterfully throughout the campaign under circumstances which were oftentimes the severest tests of horseman's skill. The turf affairs of the day, however, driving Pensia Maid; and J. A. Mackenzie and Pensia Maid were invincible.

With the close of the season Shutt presented ownership of the season's trotting prize, although many offers, ranging from $15,000 to $20,000, were made for the Trans-Canada winner, and back to the Grand Circuit trotting of 1909, where they were welcomed by brass bands, oratory and the hurrahs of their fellow-citizens.

This Year's Record

The little mare had earned herself a year of rest after her arduous campaign, and not until late of the present spring did she and her quiet-natured owner again appear upon the scene. The rendezvous of the year for the Grand Circuit endurance was at Indianapolis, and it was there that Shutt and Pensia Maid joined the clans and commenced their preparations for the season's campaign. All went well until one day in late June, when Mackenzie of Winnipeg came down from the north-west country to inspect his stable of trotters and pacers, which Hays James had brought over from a winter's preparation in California to acclimate at Indianapolis prior to their Grand Circuit debut. Pensia Maid's staidness, her wonderful bursts of speed, her apparent class, took the eye of the Canadian sportsman, and Shutt parted with Pensia Maid for $25,000. This Pensia Maid, the plebeian, became the property of Mrs. H. J. Mackenzie, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, and all Canada, from Halifax to Victoria, enthused over the prospects of at last having a trotting champion.

After the purchase, Pensia Maid joined the Mackenzie stable, and continued to improve in her work, and on the last day of the Indianapolis meeting, the second week in July, James drove a new charge in 2:01 1-2, an unprecedented performance. Then came her race at Kalamazoo, where she easily defeated the best trotters of the day, and preparations were made for her onslaught against the two-minute goal. One week, two weeks, more there would be a new trotting queen. The trotting world was all expectant, and feverishly awaited the news from the front. At last came the message, Pensia Maid was dead.

MAGI WATER
When, in 1807, a beaver hunter discovered the "Great Medicine" of the Indians and trailed down the beaten track to the source of their healing waters, he little foresaw that in the course of a hundred years, Caledonia Springs were to become known throughout the continent of North America and that under the name of
would invade all parts of the continent and become the standard Canadian water.
Not only is MAGI the purest of pure spring waters, but it possesses marked medicinal properties as well. As it flows through its long subterranean course—no man knows whence nor how far—it gathers from Nature's store, natural salts and other minerals which make it an unexcelled specific for disorders of the stomach and kidneys—for rheumatism, gout, etc.
MAGI assists excretion and helps carry off disease-creating body wastes.
Yet, MAGI is not, in any sense, a medicine. Not only does it do you good, but MAGI is good to drink. For the table, its crystal purity and wonderful "fresh" taste, makes MAGI just the simplest and most delicious beverage you can imagine.

BUDGET OF BRIEFS FROM BOULEVARD

Many New Stores and New Businesses Blocks—The Village Blacksmith Move

The Alexandra Hospital is being rushed to completion and is the subject of the street car service recently started on Namayo and Norwood Boulevard is doing a thriving business. Trade of all kinds is increasing rapidly and everybody is satisfied that Namayo and the Boulevard has got justice done here at last.

Part of the sewer on Namayo avenue was completed last fall and it is hoped that the commissioners will have the boulevard finished up to Alberta avenue early this fall before frost sets in. With the boulevard finished up to the Boulevard will be one of the finest streets in the city of Edmonton. The sewerage system is being removed and the burning of the manure has ceased at the incinerator, and the Burns' slaughter houses closed down. If the sewer is now sewed up, the people would be breathing again one of the city's greatest gifts, fresh air.

Mr. T. B. Garney, the celebrated village blacksmith, who commenced business away back in the last century when Edmonton was a hamlet, has also opened up in the Melby block. The school children, and the door to see the sparks fly and hear the bellows roar. All we want to say is the children love to see the old, old scene story.

A great post office has been opened up in the Norwood Pharmacy which is a great convenience to the residents of Norwood. A. S. Jones is post master. Doc. Collins has just come back from the Winnipeg exhibition and was highly pleased with what he saw there. Real estate has come up on the Boulevard. Mr. Robinson has been offered a high price for his property on the corner of York and Boulevard.

A new restaurant and cafe is being opened in the Bonner block and meals served at all hours. A shoe and harness shop has been opened in the Howard block. Duncan Brothers have entered their dry goods and accessory store in the Scott and Lake have also enlarged their store.

THE EDMONTON CAPITAL

an ever increasing passion to risk his money on anything and everything where a bet would bring his pulse, but has been yoked to a plow in the strain of stock markets.

To acquire the money that enabled him to buy a house in the "hard times" panic. Gates gradually extended his activities and influence and in the fall of 1897 he determined to try again to merge the wire companies.

Morgan the Financier

J. Pierpont Morgan agreed to furnish the underwriting, but was secured out when the Spanish war started. Lloyd L. Smith, a Chicago capitalist, came to the rescue and secured the Elwood floated the $90,000,000 wire combine.

When this tremendous money behind him, Gates could not get a seat in Wall Street. So he played the game of the stock market and in the end he won. He had a hand in the success of his son, Charles G. Gates, in the brokerage business. He had a hand in the success of his son, Charles G. Gates, in the brokerage business.

From that time, father and son, in business and pleasure. The brokerage house soon made the high record for a day's business. The stock market was up 125,000 shares—on which the brokerage commissions were approximately $50,000.

Won $500,000 on Race

When Wall Street grew tiresome in 1909, Gates took his son with him to Europe. He was out on the state of his friend Drake. On one race he backed "Royal Flush" from 25 to 1 and won half a million dollars.

The panic of 1907, it was said, hit Gates hard and he was pointed out as the savior of the financial crisis. On one race he backed "Royal Flush" from 25 to 1 and won half a million dollars.

What Gates' real condition was at that time, no one could say. It is known that he re-started his old dry goods store, and before the opening of the new store, he was in the Texas company and was fighting Standard Oil from the state out of which the Standard Oil company had been driven by the courts. The Texas Company established over thirty branches in the United States and was a powerful force in the oil industry.
